I Have chose to put this in Score, believing it to be of great Use and Benefit to the Performers to have all the Parts before 'em, that they may see where each Part stops, and where it joyns again with the rest, by which they will know when to come in. I have also put the Treble-Part in the Gsolreut-Cliff; as being generally better known than the other.

PSALM-Tunes, in Four Parts, Treble, Counter-Tenor, Tenor and Bass.

PSALM 31 or, 92.

It is a thing both good and meet,

to praise the highest Lord,

It is a thing both good and meet,

to praise the highest Lord,

and to thy Name,

to sing and praise the Lord.

O thou most high, to sing and praise the Lord.

and to thy Name,

to sing and praise the Lord.

O thou most high, to sing and praise the Lord.
